

Mid-America Environmental Engineering Conference

This one-day annual conference is for graduate students studying environmental engineering at SIUE, SIUC, MS&T, Mizzou, and Washington University in St. Louis to present their research. It provides the graduate students and their faculty advisors a unique opportunity to network. The conference is held in the fall and rotates between the campuses.